While all businesses are experiencing radical, record-setting levels of change, in no other industry are these seismic shifts more profound, more pivotal—or more personal—than in healthcare.

Enter the Era of Hi-Tech Health: an epic convergence of technologies, discoveries, devices, and data that are poised to drive more disruption over the next 20 years. . . than within the past 200.

To be sure, this new frontier is as inspiring as it is overwhelming, especially given that today’s industry leaders are facing an aggressive mandate to transform from Health Care into Health Tech organizations.

But what are the key forces propelling this paradigm? Which next-gen technologies are driving this massive reinvention? And, ultimately, what will this new model of treatment, care, and prevention look like?

Filled with answers, insights, and inspiration, through “The 5 Ps Igniting Healthcare’s New Frontier,” innovation speaker and futurist Christina “CK” Kerley provides a framework for today’s executives who are focused on tomorrow’s growth opportunities.

From Persistent Monitoring providing 24-7 oversight and actionable health data, to Pervasive Care that ensures health solutions reach even the most remote corners of the planet—to Precision-Based tools and procedures that dramatically improve outcomes.

Moreover, from a focus on prevention through Predictive Models to healthcare’s Holy Grail of Personalized Medicine, CK explores the tech, trends, and tenets that are reshaping 21st century medicine, revolutionizing our companies . . . and redefining our roles within them.
