The Future Of Partnerships: Human+Machine Collaboration

Movies have famously portrayed AIs as either Terminators sent to destroy us, or as Job-Killers out to replace us. But in reality, intelligent machines will neither be our enemies, nor will they be our competitors: on the contrary, they'll be our greatest collaborators!

In Human+Machine Collaboration CK shows how the future will be built upon the successful partnership of two extraordinary intelligences— human and machine—that will work wonders by working TOGETHER.

And she'll show you how these "Co-BOTs" (CO-laborative Ro-BOTS) will advance us in every way imaginable . . .

They'll automate mundane tasks. Increase our productivity. Protect us from danger. Help the disabled navigate the world. Prevent wildfires, diseases, and pandemics. Delight us with creative inspiration. Provide students with on-demand tutors, supply tourists with on-demand translators, and furnish patients with on-demand doctors.

But the single biggest benefit won't be the aggravations that they remove from our work, it will be the elusive resource that they return to our lives: more TIME to spend on what—and with whom—we value the most.

So leave the man-vs-machine stories to the movies. Bring in CK to teach your audiences how these two extraordinary intelligences—human and machine—will work wonders by working TOGETHER.
